Delhi 'Power' Facts

Since 2002:

- Power demand has increased by nearly 100% - from 2879 MW to 5653 MW in 2013.
- Discoms cost of buying power from Gencos has increased by around 300%, a cost on which discoms have no control.
- Retail tariff, in the corresponding period, has risen by around 70%.
- This virtual non cost reflective retail tariff has led to a huge build up of future receivables (regulatory assets) to the tune of over Rs 19,500 crore, impacting sustainability of operations of the Delhi discoms.
- Currently, 100% of BYPL' revenue goes to meet power purchase and interest costs. Discoms are not recovering costs, leave alone any return.
- Delhi discoms virtually buy their entire power from central and state government owned Gencos through long term PPA's, at rates determined by the Central and State regulators.
- Discoms in Delhi buy power from government owned Gencos in Delhi, Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan, West Bengal, MP, Jharkhand, Uttarakhand, UP, HP, J&K etc.
