Now, computer will control 11 kV Sub-stations

To provide uninterrupted power supply and world class services to its consumers, BYPL has started automating its operations at last mile 11 kV Sub-stations. Now, these Sub-stations can be remotely controlled centrally. The DMS (Distribution Management System) has been launched as pilot project in Mayur Vihar.

With the launch of DMS, BYPL has entered the league of select discoms globally, where the distribution system is automated not only at 66 and 33 kV levels but also at 11 kV level. This technology will help in early detecting and faster restoration of faults. Since the system is being monitored in real time, anomalies are immediately flagged. This helps the discom in taking preventive corrective actions.
